

M. R. Sellars Invades Myspace

Yes, my publicist convinced me that it would be a good place to network, so I invaded the place even though they don't seem to have any WMD's. They have quite a few really odd distractions, however. Among them being the "Queen Bitches of the Whole Fking Universe," AKA - Dorothy Morrison, Kristin Madden, and Evil Kat (Yes, the evil redhead herself.)

I should also make note that Rowan and Felicity have their own Myspace pages as well. Felicity has already posted one blog entry, and both of them will begin sporadically blogging as "teasers" about the upcoming novel in the Miranda Trilogy are released.

So, anyway, now I have a Myspace page. If you are a "myspacer" swing by and "friend" me (and the RGI gang). www.myspace.com/mrsellars